Herzogenaurach chamber orchestra

The Herzogenaurach chamber orchestra was founded in 2012 by 16 dedicated instrumentalists. With this, the long time dream of interested laymen and professionals in Herzogenaurach coming together as a string ensemble and acquiring a repertoire of baroque, classic and modern orchestra pieces came true.

The byname "concertino ducale" (loosely translated: "little ducal orchestra") on the one side alludes to the name Herzogenaurach since "ducal" is "herzoglich" in German, and on the other side emphasizes the intent to adjust the orchestra lineup to the requirements of chamber music.

Since its foundation, the string orchestra has been conducted by Dr. Gerald Fink who has been awarded several prizes as concert organist, choir leader, composer and musicologist by now.
