

Barrier-free living

Accessibility in public areas is of vital importance for persons with disabilities. Also, a barrier-free environment makes life easier for the more than 660,000 children and 2.5 million people over 65 years living in Bavaria. Accessibility is relevant for everybody, whether disabled or not, whether young or old.

Barrier-free in Herzogenaurach

The Town of Herzogenaurach participates in the project "ERH Barrier-free" initiated by the administrative district. A team of volunteer workers, supported by the AKTIV-SENIOREN BAYERN e.V. (Active Senior Citizens in Bavaria) takes care of the measuring and assessment of local objects.

The portal under www.herzogenaurach.huerdenlos.de provides detailed information about how to access and make use of buildings, stores, doctors' offices, restaurants, public places and ways in Herzogenaurach, as well as about specific access details, like stairs, elevators, or the width of the doors.

Any Herzogenaurach places already included in the portal have been divided into categories, like Authorities, or Gastronomy.

With the help of volunteer workers, the senior citizens' office of Herzogenaurach has constantly extended the list of places.

Barrier-free Town Hall

In the framework of the ERH Barrier-free project, staff members of the senior citizens' office have measured all authority offices of the Herzogenaurach town administration.

- Entrances of the Town Hall, the Tourist Information and the public library have been equipped with ramps and
- automatic electric door opening systems,
- both parts of the building provide elevators, and a narrow wheelchair for use of the elevators is available in the historic castle building as well as in the Town Hall,
- a toilet for disabled persons is available outside, in the south below the terrace of the Ratskeller restaurant,
- an Audio Induction Loop System is available in the conference hall.

All consultation desks of the Citizens Advice Bureau provide an Audio Induction Loop System with directional microphone.
