Dear fellow citizens, dear guests: I am pleased that you are interested in our town!

The Internet presence of the Town of Herzogenaurach offers comprehensive information on a variety of interesting topics. We also inform you about current projects, important dates and events. I would like to invite you to participate and engage in public life. Civic commitment is of crucial importance for a community like the citizens of one town.

Besides current topics, our Internet pages also provide information on the more than 1000 years of history of our town which is, amongst others, the home of our global companies Schaeffler, adidas AG and PUMA SE.

Yet, the most pleasant way to get to know our town is to take part in the numerous diverse offers of social, cultural and sports activities. Herzogenaurach has a lot to offer! This means quality of life in every aspect, modernism, an open-minded attitude... We are looking forward to welcoming you!

For any questions or suggestions, please contact the responsible administration staff member at the relevant authority, or, as appropriate, even contact me personally.

I am available via e-mail or telephone under:
